

Dr. Nikolidakis Symeon holds a PhD in Sociology of Education, with a specialization in Special Education. He graduated from the Department of Philology of the University of Peloponnese and holds postgraduate degrees in Ethical Philosophy, Special Education and Business Administration. He teaches at the University of the Aegean and at the postgraduate programs at the University of Limassol. He is a certified Adult Educator by the National Organization for the Certification of Qualifications and Vocational Guidance (E.O.P.P.E.P.). He has taught in various training programs for teachers and professionals and has worked as a scientific director in Lifelong Learning Centres, designing and implementing face-to-face and distance learning programmes for many years. He taught at the University of the Crete and as adjunct teaching staff and at the University of West Attica for two semesters. He has made numerous presentations at international and national scientific conferences and workshops. His articles have been published in reputable scientific journals and conference proceedings