

Nikos Tz. Sergis, Dr. of Philosophy, Post-Doctoral Resarcher, University of the Aegean

Nikos Tz. Sergis was born in Athens and has studied Mathematics at the University of Athens. He got his Master's of Philosophy from the University of Crete (Department of Philosophy) and his PhD. in Philosophy from the University of Ioannina (Department of Philosophy), about the theory of the Greek philosopher Kostas Papaioannou. He finished two post-doctoral studies (ELTE University of Budapest and University of Ioannina), about the Political Philosophy of György Lukács. He has offered various semester courses about Modern Greek Philosophy, György Lukács, Philosophy of History, Philosophy of Civilization, Modern Philosophy, Ancient Greek Philosophy, Philosophy of Language, Social and Politic Philosophy, Philosophy of Mathematics at the Universities of: Budapest (ELTE), Ioannina, Thrace (Democritus University), the Aegean. 39 scientific papers of his have been published in Greek, English and Hungarian. He has taken part in 33 scientific conferences and he is the editor of 5 books. He has written 2 books: a) From Philosophy of History to History of Philosophy (Thessaloniki – Greece 2006) and b) Political Humanism in Danger. The management of an epidemic (Ioannina – Greece 2021). Finally, he has directed 7 plays in various cities of Greece and Cyprus and in Plovdiv (Bulgaria).